COLONIZATION OF FREE BLACKS

A society has been formed at Washington for the purpose of colonizing the free blacks: it has been contemplated to transport them to Africa at the public expense, to furnish them with all the implements of agriculture, and to superintend the colony until they are able to make laws for their own defence, and to assume an important rank in the community of nations.

In the contemplation of a scheme so grand, so magnificent and so philanthropic, we are in imagination transported back to that period, when this degraded quarter of the globe assumed its proper rank and character among civilized nations. We recognize the formidable competitor of the proud mistress of the world, which maintained for a long time a rivalry both in arts and in arms. Hannibal carried fire and desolation to the very gates of Rome, and the proud mistress of the world trembled in every nerve at the triumph of his arms. Deriving all our ideas from the partial testimony of Roman historians, we are prone to imagine, that Carthage deserved all the severities inflicted by the proud masters of the universe. It has been happy indeed for the Romans, that the thick and impenetrable mists of oblivion hang over the destinies of Carthage. We have no Punic historians, who record the atrocities, the barbarities, the murders and conflagrations of the Roman commanders. The term Punic faith has therefore been delivered down to us as synonimous with perfidy.—But even with all the exaggerations, with all the false colorings of the Roman annalists, we have yet to learn, that it was criminal in the Carthagenians to defend themselves, when their own hearths, and altars were assaulted. What may be the issue of the measure now proposed at Washington, to transport the free Africans to the country of their ancestors, is a question beyond the reach of human sagacity to solve. Fancy, however, delights to anticipate the course of human events. She delights to behold the degraded African regaining, through the very medium of that slavery, his former character in the scale of independent nations. He may carry with him to the abode of his fathers, all the comforts and enjoyments of social life; he may become in the hands of Divine Providence, the instrument of introducing amongst his savage brethern, the blessings of civilization. We have the express words of divine prophecy to confirm the conviction, that the time is to arrive when "Ethiopia shall stretch out her hands:" and how far the transportation of the free Africans to the country of their ancestors may aid this event, is a question for futurity to solve. Even the slavery of the Africans would then be an instrument in the hands of the Deity, for restoring Carthage to its ancient splendor—of planting the rose of civilization in the depths of those savage haunted wildernesses. This may appear chimerical; but chimerical as it is, it is no more than the page of history unfolds to our view. England was once the resort of savages as ferocious as Africa is now. The country was once conquered by the Romans, and by the means of this conquest, was civilization and the arts of social life introduced amongst the roving savages. What comparison will Rome now bear to England in the scale of independent nations! Nothing but the mouldering monuments now remain of that "eternal" city, once ostentatiously denominated the mistress of the world—while the poor degraded Englishman, once destined to grace the return of his conqueror to Rome, looks with an eye of pity on the dilapidated arches, ruined aqueducts and columns surmounted with ivy. This may be the race which it is yet destined for Africa to run. How would Cæsar, while returning from the conquest of Britain, have smiled with derision, if he had been told that the unhappy captives bound in chains, to his triumphal chariot, would one day transplant the Roman greatness, power, dignity and grandeur, to that little island which he had just subdued by his arms! Barbarous nations have thus been conquered and enslaved into the blessings of civilization and law. They have been thus made to feel how incompetent they are in their rude state, to resist the assaults of civilized armies. A sense of security has compelled them to adopt the manners and habits of their conquerors: one improvement follows in the train of another, until the tenant of the howling wilderness is by slow, and by sometimes almost imperceptible degrees, changed into civilized man.

If this doom is reserved for Africa, it will be no more than that course of events which Divine Providence has prescribed for other countries. Even the evils of African slavery will then not have been without their use. They will then become the means of diffusing over those dark and benighted regions, the cheering beams of gospel light, and finally of accomplishing the ends of our Creator, who, athough unseen, directs all the actions of his creatures, and makes even the ambition and avarice of man subservient to His own views of mercy and of benevolence. Tel

From the Connecticut Herald.

It appears to be no longer a matter of surmise, that some of our citizens have fitted out privateers in different sea-ports in the United States, for the express purpose of depredating upon the commerce of Spain. The plan adopted by these corsairs, is well calculated to elude the vigilance of government. The vessels intended for this purpose, are ostensibly manned for some legal voyage, the prosecution of which may be supposed to require military equipments. They clear, for instance, with the intent of navigating the Pacific Ocean, and as soon as possible after leaving port, make a false sale of the vessel to Spanish Patriots, hoist the Insurgent flag, and commence their piratical career upon the subjects of a nation with whom we are at peace.

It is undoubtedly the opinion of some of these gentlemen, that this course of proceeding will screen them from punishment should they eventually be detected. But they are grossly mistaken. No citizen of the United States can, even in time of war, proceed upon an expedition of this kind without the consent of government. And if we permit robberies to be thus committed upon the open sea, in time of peace, when the fact cannot be concealed from the knowledge not only of our own government, but of all Europe, in direct violation of the laws of the United States, and of nations: if we overlook such acts, what will be the consequence? Shall we not lose the confidence of the civilized world? What power shall treat with us, but on the well-grounded belief, that we have not only the power, but the will, to enforce our stipulations; to preserve inviolate our part of the contract?

The administration cannot be ignorant of the evil which must ensue, should these pirates remain unpunished. Officers are appointed by government to take cognizance of all breaches of law. We do not call upon Mr. Madison or his Cabinet, directly to seize the offenders, and bring them to justice; but we do call upon them to compel their officers to do their duty promptly and efficiently in this case. The principal is responsible for the acts of his agent.

In this important subject, every American is deeply interested. For in our republic, national honour is not, as in a Monarchy, the prerogative of a sovereign; it is not identified with the acts of administration; but it is the property of the People.

Whether the Patriots of South America deserve our assistance, or not, is a matter of no consequence in the present case. Whatever be the justice of their cause, it can furnish no excuse for us. We are bound by a treaty with the Sovereign of Old Spain; and it is the imperative duty of our Rulers, to compel a strict observance of it. If the Administration have any respect for the dignity of our country; if they have any regard for their own interests; they will no longer suffer these pirates to escape unpunished. The halo of glory which circles the star-spangled banner of Columbia, is the admiration of the world!—Perdition to the wretch who shall tarnish its splendour!

"When the steed is stolen," &c. The proverb is too stale to need repetition.—The application of it however, in the case of the President's Message, published in this day's paper, is exact. Vessels fitted for all the purposes of privateering and piracy, have been equipping and equipped in the ports of the U. S. for months past; and Mr. Madison's proposition unfortunately comes after they have sailed. Nay, perhaps, after they have committed some important acts of aggression. However, as another old proverb says, "It is better late than never," and perhaps the proceedings of Congress on the President's message, may stop the equipping and sailing of other pirates, sometime or other.

Alex. Gaz.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.

Yesterday the President sent to both Houses of Congress a Message stating, that the existing laws had been found insufficient to prevent violations of the duties of the U. States as a nation at peace towards other States as a nation at peace towards other nations, on the high seas, and other unlawful acts by vessels fitted out and equipped for war in the waters of the union, and therefore recommending it to Congress in order more effectually to maintain the respect due to the laws and to the character and relations of the country, to make such further legislative provisions as may be requisite for detaining vessels so equipped and furnished with warlike armaments within the jurisdiction of the U. States.—This message was read and referred to the committee of foreign relations.

FOREIGN.

A horrible attempt (says a Paris private letter) was made, some nights back, to blow up the barracks, near the barrier leading to St. Germain, on the south side of the river, at one o'clock in the morning, a man was discovered with a match in his hand, he was shot by two centinels at the same moment, and at the place where he was shot, it was discovered that there was a communication with the vaults, in which several barrels of gunpowder had been placed, for the horible purpose of destroying 5000 men in an instant.

ROME, Oct. 1.

The allocution of the Pope at the late election of Cardinals, contains some curious facts respecting the state of the Christian Religion in China. It seems that the Jesuit Missionaries to that empire have recently undergone grievous persecutions.—Gabriel Dufresse, a French missionary, and Bishop of Tabraca and Vicar Apostolic of the province of See-Tchuen, for thirty-nine years, has been put to death. Having been banished by the Chinese government, impelled by religious fervour he returned, but was soon discovered, and put in irons. The mandarins then suddenly affected much kindness, ordering his chains to be broken, and overwhelmed him with carresses. But they had honey in their motuhs and poison in their hearts. They boldly desired him to abjure his religion: on his side he spoke of the futility of the Chinese rites and extolled the Christian dogmas. The perfidious Mandarins had concealed two persons behind the partition, who wrote down the Bishop's words. An accusation was consequently drawn up, and the Biship was taken by the Vice Roy, who being a sworn enemy to all Christians condemned him immediately to die. In an instant this respectable old man was stripped of his robes and led forth to the place of execution, where an immense crowd was assembled. Thirty-three Christians, whom no torments could divert from the true faith, were led out the same time, surrounded by executioners and instruments of torture. All of them were then told that they must abjure the Christian Religion or undergo the punishment of the cord.

With heroic fortitude all refused to renounce their Saviour, and beseeched the Bishop to give them absolution and his last benediction. The Bishop granted their request, and after urging them to follow his example with firmness, laid his head on the block, and the executioner at one blow then severed it from his body.

The Christians, who had been only brought out to frighten them, were reconducted to prison, and afterwards banished. The head of the bishop of Trabaca was affixed to a gibbet, with the inscription—"Apostle of the Christian Religion and Bishop of Europe." The same words were seen on the box, which was adorned with a figure of the bishop, and contained his head, and which was paraded for some days in all the places where the Christians lived who had been converted by him. His blood was preserved by the Christians, and distributed among the inhabitants of various towns and villages. The body, after lying three days on the scaffold, watched by Christians, was interred with pious devotion.

Another missionary, Augustine Fohar, aged 73, was beaten so unmercifully, that he died in a few days. The Judge who condemned him admonished him to consider his great age and the punishment which would follow upon the refusing to renounce Christianity; and when he was undergoing the punishment, the Judge said, "Now your God has deserted you."——Oh no," said Augustine, "He has given me strength to endure all this and much more!" The Judge, mad with rage, then ordered him to be struck in the face, which killed him.

OFFERINGS TO GUNGA.

Mr. William Carey, who is at Cutwa, communicates the following account of savage offerings made to the Ganges:—

On the 2d of March, at the Varoonee Festival, a large concourse of Hindoos assembled from all parts of the adjoining country, to bathe in the Ganges, a village about two miles from Serampore. While the crowd were employed in bathing, an inhabitant of Orissa advanced to the banks of the river, leading in his hand his son, a beautiful boy, of about six years of age. Having anointed his body with tumeric, and surrounded his temples with a garland of flowers, and clothed him in new apparel, he repeated the incantations prescribed by the Shaster: then descending into the river, and holding up his son in his arms he said "O Mother Ganges, this child is thine: to thee I offer it." So saying, he cast the little boy into the river, who sunk, and rose no more.. The crowd testified their approbation, by crying out, "Huribul!" It appears that, several years back, the parent being desirous of children promised to offer his first-born to Gunga, should the goddess be propitious to his wishes.

Another man of the same place, having performed the usual ceremonies, to prevent the intervention of his relatives carried his son, a lad about 12 years old, in a boat to the middle of the stream, and there dropped him in. The child struggled for some time, and was happily discovered by some one passing, who rescued it from death.

An infant was also cast into the river by its mother, at the same time; but the relatives recovered it, and carried it home.

Office of the Baltimore Patriot, Dec. 21.

Mr. M'Faddon, who came passenger in the Highflyer, 32 days from Boquilla de Piedras, has politely communicated to the Editors the following important intelligence.

The fort of Monteblanc, which commands the King's Road near the cities of Orizava and Cordova, was captured Nov. 15, by a force of 2,500 Spanish Royalists, by means of treachery. Several attacks were repulsed by the fort; but two companies of Royalists, throwing down their arms, and rushing into the fort under pretence of joining the patriots, having arms put into their hands by the latter, in the night rose upon them, and in conjunction with the troops without, subdued the garrison.

Gen. Vittoria, the patriot commander of the province, was in his turn besieging the Royalists, he had a force blockading the cities of Xalapa, Orizava and Cordova

The Royalists were advancing from Vera Cruz, 1000 strong, upon Boquilla, which is garrisoned by only 75 men, and would probably have to surrender.

The fort of Guazaloos, was attacked in the month of October last, by gen. Terant, who was defeated with the loss of 400 men.——Wm. D. Robinson, Esq. was killed among them.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 7, 1817.

DIED, in Brunswick county, Virginia, on the 16th ult. General JOHN WOODS, of this city, and Member of Congress from this district, in the 55th year of his age;—a man of transcendant talents in the profession of the law; highly and justly respected for pure integrity and unblemished honour in all his intercourse with the world; and strong in the confidence of his country, from his disinterested, fearless pursuit of what he deemed the public good, regardless of personal consequences to himself.

The manly, elevated cast of his whole character, the zeal, activity and constancy of his friendships and good offices, as well as the urbanity of his manners and the hospitality of his temper, rendered him very dear to all who knew him:—The society in which he lived and held so distinguished a station, universally unites with his immediate relatives in lamenting his premature death.

During the last two years, the health of General Woods has been gradually declining;—He was urgently advised by his Physicians to avoid the inclemency of a northern winter:—In the prosecution of his journey southward, he sunk into the tomb under the incessant activity of the complaint that had so long oppressed him.

Attended at the time of his decease, only by his wife and nephew; the last sad tribute of respect towards departed worth, was paid to his memory by strangers, whose marked kindness and lively sympathy will be forever remembered with gratitude by his friends.

Communication.

Without respect to party, and with a view to the true interests of the city, the following ticket is recommended to the consideration of the citizens by Impartial Voters.

Colonization of the free Blacks.—The senate of Virginia has agreed to the proposition of the house respecting this matter. inserted in our last, with an amendment which goes to suggest the coast of Africa, in addition to the coast of the north Pacific.

AT a large and respectable meeting of the merchants, and other inhabitants of this city, held in pursuance of public notice, at Mr. Kerr's hotel, on Saturday evening 28th Dec. 1816:—

E. Denny, Esq. was called to the chair, and A. M. Bolton, was appointed secretary.

Mr. Pentland, in behalf of the committee nominated at a former meeting, reported that they had prepared a memorial praying for the establishment at Pittsburgh, of a branch of the United States' Bank; whereupon the said memorial was twice read, and after some discussion was approved.

On motion Resolved, That Messrs. Bean, Allen, Hill, T. G. Lea, Wm. Bell, C. Doane and Charles Avery, be a committee to cause a sufficient number of copies of the said memorial, to be printed and circulated through the western part of Pennsylvania, for signature; to correspond with such of the inhabitants of the western parts of Maryland and Virginia, and the northwestern part of the state of Ohio, as may be favorable to those measures, for the purpose of obtaining their concurrence and co-operation; to collect the memorials when signed, transmit them to the President and Directors of the Bank of the United States, at Philadelphia, and to endeavour by their own personal attendance (if needful) to secure the contemplated object of the memorial.

Also, Resolved, That E. Pentland, A. M. Bolton, and Wm. B. Foster, be a committee to correspond with the Representatives of this district in the legislature of Pennsylvania; the senators and representatives for this state, in Congress; and with the secretary of the treasury of the United States, on the subject of the adopted memorial, and for the purpose of accomplishing the views of this meeting.

Also, Resolved, That the expences incurred in the prosecution of these measures be defrayed by voluntary contributions. Extracted from the minutes.

E. DENNY, Chairman.

A. M. BOLTON, Secretary.

The steam boat Franklin, 160 tons burthen, capt. Cromwell, of and from Pittsburgh for New Orleans, full cargo of produce, anchored before this place on Tuesday evening in a passage of 55 running hours, and sailed again on Wednesday noon. The Franklin left Pittsburgh yesterday week, at which time, captain C. reports, the Oliver Evans, captain Bezeau, was still lying there. Captain C. further reports that the steam boat Harriet of Pittsburgh had got aground in her passage down, near Yellow Creek, between Steubenville and Pittsburgh. The Harriet is a small vessel of between 40 and 50 tons burthen, and was bound to New-Orleans, between which place and Pittsburgh she was intended for a regular trader.

Captain Cromwell intends to return to Pittsburgh, with the Franklin, in the Spring. Cincinatti Spy.

Maysville, Dec. 24, 1816.

The undersigned passengers in the Steam-Boat Franklin, from Pittsburgh, feel it a just tribute due to the proprietors and captain, to express publicly there approbation of the very handsome manner in which they have been entertained. Her accommodations, speed and safety, as well as the polite attention of Capt. Cromwell, are such as will always ensure a decided preference.

ST. LOUIS, December 14.

Four Ioway Indians were committed to the prison of this county a few days ago, as horse thieves. It appears they were taken up near the River Demoin, with the horses in possession. It is much feared that our citizens will be driven to hostilities with the Ioways and Sacks, as their depredations are becoming more frequent and vexatious.

The Cherokee and Osage indians lately closed their differences by a treaty of peace. The Cherokee's complained that their people were robbed and murdered by the Osages, while hunting for their support. The Osages contended that they only defended their hunting grounds from the aggressions of the Cherokees, that them and other tribes were in the habit of stealing their game, and they would treat every tribe or nation as thieves who committed depredations on their lands, but in order to prevent future acts of severity they would give the Cherokees a tract of country, commencing at or near the Frog bayou on the Arkansas (on the late line drawn between this territory and the Osages.) From thence up the Arkansas to the river Verdigres, thence up the Verdigres river to the upper rapids of said river, thence east to the late line, about mid distance between the Frog bayou and Fort Osage.

It is said this treaty of cession to the Cherokees has been sent to the President for his approbation.

The Cherokees are generally cultivators, possessed of large stocks of cattle and negroes; they make handsome cloth, and it is thought they will soon abandon the chace. Many of them declare they will become whitemen, and purchase of Congress the lands they live upon.

Summary Justice in our City Court.

On Monday morning last, James Charles, a stout hale young coloured man, stole a cheese; he was arrested, brought before an Alderman, heard and admitted to bail. On Tuesday morning his case was reported to the Attorney General, who sent a bill to the grand Inquest. They endorsed it "a true bill," and presented it to the Court. The prisoner was arraigned, had a fair trial, was convicted by the Petit Jury, and, by the Court, sentenced to "Six Years imprisonment at hard labour, to be fed and clothed as the law directs"—— From the committing of the Larceny to the passing of sentence, and the commencing of the punishment, was less than twenty hours!—Phil. Demo. Press.

A Late London "Globe," says, "The oldest and greatest ship owner in the world, is resident at Boston in America he was originally a lady's shoe maker."

THE SUBSCRIBER
Offers For Sale,

The following valuable property, viz.

36 ACRES of ground on Coal hill below the mouth of Sawmill run. From this ground there is a beautiful view of the city.

108 acres, three miles from Greensburgh. This is good land covered with timber, which on account of being so near town makes it more valuable than if clear.

243 acres on the left bank of the Ohio river, sixteen miles down from the city. On this tract there is about fifty acres of bottom on the river, cleared and wrought by a tenant. The rest is timber land, nearly all capable of being cleared and wrought, and suitable for pasture ground.

200 acres of very rich unimproved land, within eight miles of Meadville.

An undivided fourth part of about seven hundred acres in the state of Kentucky. This is very valuable, being the seat of the town of Greensburg; the county town of Green county, and situate on the bank of Green river; which is navigable from many miles above the town to the Ohio.

I will sell also a four years lease of a mill for driving grindstones. This is situated at the mouth of Sawmill run, one mile from town.

The title of the above property will be made indisputable.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

A number of persons to me unknown, have been lately trespassing on my farm, situated on Peters creek, Mifflin township, under the plea of hunting out a tract of land claimed by the heirs of William M'Maghan, the title to which never existed but in the minds of those amphibious claimants, and a few interested gentry who have been aiding in this persecution against the family of the Wrights this ten years past.

I will give the above reward to any person or persons, who will give such information as will bring to conviction, the person or persons, who, under this or any other pretence, entered the enclosure of my tenants, on said premises; threw down the fences and marked trees (as if being trees of an old survey on said farm,) as nothing but the most depraved motives could influence those who would commit such an offence against his neighbour, without notice either to me or my tenants, the latter being scarcely ever off the premises. I do forwarn all persons under any plea or claim whatever from enteing on the ground contained within either of the two surveys situated as aforesaid and late the property of Zadock Wright deceased, for the purpose of cutting and carrying away wood, coal &c. as I am determined to prosecute for every trespass of that nature, after this notice.
